

FREASCO aims to create a mechanism that will combine existing tools and methods, with a digital solution, and which will provide support to educational institutions, universities and their staff to prevent sexism.

Our mission is to develop:

- A multilingual online self-assessment tool for schools and institutions that includes an interactive catalog of open educational resources;
- A quality label for schools that meet minimal requirements, with tools and resources for anonymous incident reporting;
- Advice and best practices for developing sexism and sexual harassment policies in schools;
- Guidelines for capacity building and online support for contextualized organizational empowerment based on school staff strengths and capabilities.
